GGCL ECOSYSTEM WHITEPAPER

Grey Group Company Token | Base Network

PUBLIC-FACING CORPORATE DRAFT

Version dated August 2026

CORE POSITIONING Grey Group Company LLC is the company. GGCL is a digital utility layer being developed around that company - not a substitute for the operating business.

1. Executive Summary

Grey Group Company LLC is an Idaho company focused on practical operational improvement and modern business technology. Its current business positioning centers on inventory, hospitality, AI & automation, and digital solutions. The company is based in Boise, Idaho and supports remote and on-site engagements.

GGCL (Grey Group Company Token) is an ERC-20 token deployed on Base. The intended role of GGCL is to support future digital utility inside the Grey Group ecosystem while the company continues building real products, services, clients, and operating capabilities.

2. Grey Group Company LLC

Business focus

- Inventory: audits, physical counts, receiving/storage procedures, shrinkage controls and KPI design.
- Hospitality: hotel operations, housekeeping systems, staffing plans, standards, productivity and team development.
- AI & Automation: practical workflows, internal assistants, document systems, reporting and customer-service automation.
- Digital: professional websites, digital workflows and modern business tools built around operational needs.

Operating method

1. Observe - understand the operation as it actually works.
2. Measure - identify gaps, waste, risk and priorities.
3. Implement - put practical controls and procedures in place.
4. Sustain - train teams and track performance over time.

3. GGCL Technical Profile

IMPORTANT A small pool establishes a market and price discovery, but it also means price can move sharply with relatively small trades. Pool value is not the same as company value and does not imply guaranteed liquidity or returns.

5. Current Tokenomics

Category	GGCL	Share	Status
Initial liquidity	2,000,000	2%	Deposited into WETH/GGCL liquidity

Company treasury reserve	98,000,000	98%	Held for future company decisions

No additional public allocation percentages are fixed in this version. Future treasury releases may support product development, utility programs, strategic partnerships, community initiatives, marketing, team compensation, or additional liquidity, but each material release should be documented by company resolution and disclosed when appropriate.

6. Intended Utility Framework

GGCL is being developed as a utility-oriented ecosystem token. Candidate uses are subject to product development and legal/compliance review before launch.

- Access to selected Grey Group digital tools, content, memberships or service features.
- Customer or community programs such as credits, discounts or participation benefits where legally appropriate.
- Integration with future Grey Group software or blockchain-enabled products.
- On-chain verification of selected ecosystem activities or access rights.

BOUNDARY GGCL is not intended to represent equity, ownership, voting rights in Grey Group Company LLC, a dividend, a revenue share, a bank deposit, or a guaranteed investment return.

7. Roadmap 2026-2028

Period	Primary objective	Gate before expansion
2026 - Foundation	Build operating services; document governance; publish clear token information; maintain the initial pool.	Business operations and compliance structure are established.
2027 - Utility pilots	Launch selected digital tools and test limited GGCL utility with real users.	Useful product exists and customer demand is demonstrated.
2028 - Expansion	Broaden partnerships, services and GGCL integrations where commercially and legally appropriate.	Measured adoption, sufficient liquidity, and legal review support expansion.

8. Risk and Compliance Principles

- Digital assets can lose substantial or all market value.
- Low liquidity can cause significant price volatility and slippage.
- Grey Group should not advertise GGCL with guaranteed returns or price-appreciation claims.

- The company should not accept, pool, custody or trade client funds through GGCL without the required legal and regulatory structure.
- Any future token sale, reward program or financial feature should receive appropriate legal and tax review before public launch.
- Company and personal assets should remain operationally and accounting-wise separate.
